(6) After the publication of the last notification prescribed in sub-rule (5), the Bank shall, if it is satisfied of the loss, theft, destruction, mutilation or defacement, of the bond and of the justice of the claim of the applicant, cause the particulars of the bond to be included in a list such as is referred to in rule 7 hereunder and shall order the Public Debt Office—

(i) if only a portion of the bond has been lost, stolen, destroyed, mutilated or defaced, and if a portion of the bond sufficient for its identification has been produced, to issue to the applicant, on the execution of an indemnity bond such as is hereinafter mentioned, a duplicate bond in place of that of which a portion has been lost, stolen, destroyed, mutilated or defaced on the expiry of such period not exceeding six months as the Bank may consider necessary from or immediately after the date of the publication of the said list; and

(a) if the date on which the final instalment of the bond is due for payment falls earlier than the date on which the said period of one year expires, or if the bond is notified for redemption before that date, the Bank shall pay all the outstanding instalments after the expiry of the said period of one year without issuing a duplicate bond; and

(b) if at any time before the issue of a duplicate bond, the original bond is discovered or it appears to the Public Debt Office for other reasons that the order should be rescinded, the matter shall be referred to the Bank for further consideration and in the meantime all action on the order shall be suspended.

(7) The Bank may, at any time prior to the issue of a duplicate bond, if it finds sufficient reason, alter or cancel any order made by the Bank under this rule and may also direct that the interval before the issue of a duplicate bond shall be extended by such period not exceeding one year as it may think fit.

(8) Indemnity Bonds.—(i) An indemnity bond, when executed under sub-rule (6) and not under rule 12 shall be for twice the amount of the instalments involved, that is to say, twice the amount of all back instalments accrued due on the bond plus twice the amount of all instalments to accrue due thereon.

(ii) The Bank may direct that such indemnity bond shall be executed by the applicant alone or by the applicant and one or two sureties as it may think fit, or that in lieu of furnishing personal sureties the applicant shall furnish collateral security in the shape of Government securities to be deposited with it for such amount and period as it may think fit.

7. Publication of List.—(i) The list referred to in rule 6 shall be published quarterly in the official Gazette of the Government issuing the bond in the months of January, April, July and October or as soon afterwards as may be convenient.

(ii) All bonds in respect of which an order has been passed under rule 6 shall be included in the first list published next after the passing of such order and thereafter such bonds shall continue to be included in each of the succeeding lists

(iii) The list shall contain, as far as possible, the following particulars regarding each bond included therein, namely, the description of the bond, the number of the bond, its value, the person to whom it was issued, the date from which instalments are due, the name of the applicant for a duplicate, the number and the date of the order passed by the Bank for payment of instalments or issue of a duplicate and the date of publication of the list in which the bond was first included.

8. Determination of Title by Vesting Order.—Notwithstanding anything contained in rule 6, the title to a lost, stolen, destroyed, mutilated or defaced bond may be determined by the Bank by its order vesting title to the bond.

9. Determination of a mutilated or defaced bond as a bond requiring renewal.—It shall be at the option of the Bank to treat a bond which has been mutilated or defaced, as a bond requiring the issue of a duplicate under rule 6 or mere renewal under rule 14.

10. When a bond is required to be renewed.—(1) The holder of a bond may be required by the Public Debt Office to receipt the same for renewal in any of the following cases, namely:—

- (a) if only sufficient room remains on the back of the bond for one further endorsement or if any word is written upon the bond across any existing endorsement or endorsements;
- (b) if the bond is torn or in any way damaged or crowded with writing or unfit, in the opinion of the Public Debt Office;
- (c) if any endorsement is not clear and distinct or does not indicate the payee or payees, as the case may be, by name or in the case of office-holders, by office, or is made otherwise than in one of the endorsement cages on the back of the bond;
- (d) if the bond having been encased three times for payment of instalments is presented for re-encasement; and
- (e) if, in the opinion of the Public Debt Office, the title of the person presenting the bond for payment of instalment is irregular or not fully proved.

(2) When requisition for the renewal of a bond has been made under sub-rule (1), payment of any further instalments thereon may be refused until it is receipted for renewal and actually renewed.

11. Procedure for making vesting order.—(1) In cases to which section 12 of the Act applies, the Bank may determine the person in the manner hereunder as being entitled in its opinion to the bond and may by its order vest title in such person accordingly.

(2) The person claiming to be entitled to a bond shall apply to the Bank and adduce documentary evidence in support of his claim.

(3) On receipt of the application by the Bank, the Bank if it contemplates making a vesting order under the Act—

- (i) may suspend payment of instalments on or the maturity value of the bond or postpone the making of any order under section 11 until the vesting order has been made;
- (ii) may, if it considers proper, request a District Magistrate to record or to have recorded the whole or any part of such evidence as any person whose evidence the Bank requires may produce or direct one of its officers to record such evidence or may receive evidence upon affidavit.

(4) The Bank shall thereafter give notice in writing to each claimant of whom it has knowledge, stating the names of all other claimants and the time when and the officer of the Bank by whom the determination of title will be made.

(5) On the date and at the time fixed in the notice referred to in sub-rule (4) above, the officer shall—

- (i) examine the evidence adduced by the parties;
- (ii) hear the parties affected and record such evidence as they adduce. No further evidence shall be recorded or entertained in cases where—
  - (a) the District Magistrate has been requested to record or to have the evidence recorded, or

(b) the Bank has directed one of its officers to record the evidence; and

(iii) determine the issue as to who is entitled to the bond.

(6) After determination of the issue by the officer, the Bank shall give notice in writing to each claimant of the determination so made.

(7) The notices prescribed in sub-rules (4) and (6) above shall be published in three successive issues of the date on which they are respectively issued.

(8) On the expiry of six months from the issue of the notice referred to in sub-rule (7), the Bank may make an order vesting the bond in the person found by the Bank to be entitled thereto.

12. Indemnity Bonds.—In cases to which section 9, 10 or 12 of the Act applies, the Bank may require any person considered by the Bank as being entitled to a bond to execute a security bond in Form C, with one or more sureties or to furnish security not exceeding twice the value of the subject-matter of the order, to be held at the disposal of the Bank to pay to the Bank or to any person to whom the Bank may assign the security bond or security in furtherance of sub-section (2) of section 16 of the Act, the amount thereof.

13. Provision for recognition of title to bonds held by managing member of Hindu Joint Family subject to Mitakshara Law.—The certificate required under the proviso to section 7 of the Act shall be a certificate signed by the District Magistrate after such enquiry (if any) as may in his opinion be necessary to determine the matters in question referred to therein.

14. Receipt for renewal, etc.—(1) Subject to any general or specific instructions of the Bank, the Public Debt Office may, by its order, on the application of the holder, renew or consolidate a bond or bonds, provided that the bond or bonds has or have been receipted in Form D or E, as the case may be.

(2) Sub-division of a bond or bonds will not be allowed except on an order made by the Bank in its discretion. If sub-division is permitted, the bond or bonds tendered for sub-division shall be receipted in Form F.

(3) The Public Debt Office may, under any of the sub-rules of this rule, require the applicant to execute a security bond in Form C with one or more sureties approved by the Public Debt Office or to furnish security not exceeding twice the value of the subject-matter of the order, to be held at the disposal of the Bank, to pay to the Bank or to any person to whom the Bank may assign the security bond or security in furtherance of sub-section (2) of section 16 of the Act, the amount thereof.

15. Discharge of Bond.—(1) When the last instalment on a bond becomes due for payment or the bond is notified for redemption, it shall be presented at the office at which the instalment on the bond is payable or at the Public Debt Office and signed by the holder on its reverse.

(2) If the Public Debt Office is of the opinion that a doubt exists relating to the title to a bond, it may require the claimant to execute a security bond in Form C with one or more sureties approved by the Public Debt Office, or to furnish security not exceeding twice the amount of instalments involved to be held at the disposal of the Bank, to pay to the Bank or to any person to whom the Bank may assign the security bond or security the amount thereof.

16. When executant of a document or maker of an endorsement is unable to write.—(1) If any person by whom any document relating to a bond is to be executed or by whom an endorsement is to be made on a bond satisfies a Magistrate that he is for any reason unable to write, and that the effect of the document or endorsement is fully understood by him, and that he is the person whom he represents himself to be, such Magistrate may, at the request of that person and subject to the provisions of this rule, execute the document or sign the endorsement on his behalf.

(2) Where any such document is to be executed or an endorsement signed by a Magistrate under this rule on behalf of any person, the Magistrate shall execute the document or sign the endorsement in the presence of that person, and shall enter below his own signature a certificate to the effect that the document was executed, or the endorsement signed, as the case may be, at the request of that person, after having been previously read over to the latter, and that he is satisfied that the effect of the document or the endorsement is fully understood by such person.

(3) Nothing in the above sub-rules shall preclude the Bank from acting upon the execution of a document relating to a holder on an endorsement thereon in a manner otherwise than referred to above, provided the Bank is satisfied as to the genuineness and validity of the execution of the document or endorsement on the bond.

17. Application for grant of information.—(1) Any person requiring information regarding a bond in the custody of the Public Debt Office may apply to that office in writing stating the form in which the information is required.

(2) Every such application shall state with precision the particulars (namely the number, description and the face value) of the bond and shall contain a statement of the purpose for which the information is required and of the interest of the applicant in the bond. If any of the above particulars are not known to the applicant, the Bank may on application in writing being made to it, direct the Public Debt Office, at its discretion, to supply the required particular or particulars, if available, to the applicant subject to such conditions and on payment of such fees, if any, as it may prescribe.

18. Disposal of application for grant of information or inspection.—The following provisions shall be observed in dealing with applications under rule 17:—

(1) If the application asks for any information in respect of a bond which has been renewed, consolidated, or sub-divided otherwise than in the name of the person who has renewed, consolidated or sub-divided the bond or asks for inspection of such bond, or any register or book kept or maintained in the Public Debt Office in respect thereof or of any entry of such bond in such register or book, the application shall be refused. The register or the book shall mean the register or the book in which the bond is entered, registered or referred to.

(2) If the applicant asks for inspection or information in respect of a bond which has been cancelled on payment of the amount due in respect thereof, it shall be referred to and disposed of under the orders of the Bank.

(3) In any other case the Public Debt Office may subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, grant a certified copy of any endorsement on a bond of any entry in any register or book maintained or kept by that office relating to any bond, on being satisfied that the bond in question has stood in the name of the applicant, or of a person in whom the applicant has a representative interest, and further that the applicant has bona fide interest in the bond in respect of which the application is made:

Provided that if the bond has been cancelled for payment of the amount due in respect thereof, no copy of any endorsement thereon shall be granted which purports to give a title subsequent to the termination of the applicant's interest in the bond.

(4) The Public Debt Office may, under a special order of the Bank, supply any information regarding a bond referred to in sub-rules (2) and (3) which is directed to be supplied by such an order.

(5) If an applicant asks for—

(a) any information from the record of the Public Debt Office or the Bank in connection with a bond,

(b) a copy of any document from the record, and

(c) inspection of any record generally or any document or documents specifically, the application shall be referred to and disposed of subject to the provisions of sub-rule (1) of this rule under the order of the Bank.

(6) If the application relates to the grant of permission for inspection of an instalment warrant or of information relating to payment of instalments for a specific period, the application may be granted by the Bank provided the applicant was the person to whom instalments were paid.

(7) No information from any document or record in respect of the proceedings instituted by the Bank under section 12 of the Act shall be granted by the Bank.

19. Indemnity Bond and fees in connection with grant of information or inspection.—(1) Every applicant shall, before any information is supplied or permission for inspection granted to him, execute a bond of indemnity as nearly as may be in Form G for the amount as hereinafter mentioned—

(a) the bond of indemnity for grant of information or inspection under any of the sub-rules (1) to (4) of rule 18 shall be for twice the amount of the instalments paid on the bond or bonds from the date of issue, and

(b) the bond of indemnity for grant of information or of permission for inspection under sub-rules (5) and (6) of rule 18 shall be for such amount as may be determined by the Bank.

3. The Bank may waive the execution of a bond of indemnity or may forego the fees either wholly or partly payable to the Bank under sub-rule (2) above, or may do both.

20. Fees.—The following fees shall be paid in respect of applications under section 11 of the Act, namely:—

S.R.O. 2760.—According to the First Schedule to the Central Excise and Salt Act, 1944, the rate of Excise Duty is leviable per pound on unmanufactured tobacco, Tea and Coffee. It is, therefore, necessary that the weights of these commodities should be expressed in pounds and in decimals of a pound instead of in maunds and seers. I, therefore, in pursuance of Rule 233 of the Central Excise Rules, 1944, issue the following instructions:—

2. The quantity of unmanufactured goods to be shown in Forms D.D. 1 and A.R. 1 should be in the standard pounds as defined in section 3(1) of the Standards of Weights Act, 1939 (IX of 1939), in addition to seer weight if any licensee shows quantity in the clearance applications in that weight. Weights in Form E.B. 3 and W.R.G. 1 and 2 (Parts I to III) need not be shown in pounds if the dealers buy and sell in terms of maunds and seers.

3. In order to facilitate the conversion of weight expressed in standard maunds and seers into pounds and of pounds into maunds and seers, I enclose two tables which form Appendices I and II to this Instruction. Appendix I furnishes tables for converting standard seers and maunds into standard pounds while Appendix II furnishes tables for converting standard pounds into standard maunds and seers.

4. The Collectorate Instruction No. T/8 of 1946 should now be treated as cancelled.

AWARD

This is a complaint under Section 33A of Industrial Disputes Act.

2. The complainant alleged that the opposite party dismissed him on 14th May 1953 during the pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952 without the permission of this Tribunal and thereby contravened the provisions of Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. He therefore filed the present complaint under Section 33A for proper orders.

3. A preliminary objection was raised on behalf of the opposite party that the present complaint must be dismissed as it was filed after an unreasonable delay. In my opinion, this objection must be upheld.

4. As I said above, the complainant has filed the present complaint under Section 33A of Industrial Disputes Act alleging that the opposite party had committed a breach of Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act by dismissing him during the pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952. Section 33 of the Act inter alia prohibits an employer from discharging or dismissing any workman concerned in any dispute which may be pending before a Tribunal without the express permission in writing from that Tribunal. Section 33A lays down that if an employer commits a breach of Section 33, the aggrieved employee may make a complaint in writing to the Tribunal. This section does not provide in express terms the time during which the complaint under that section should be made; but it does not give a right to an aggrieved workman to make a complaint after an indefinite period. It is implicit in the section that the complaint must be made within a reasonable time of the act complained of. The true position would be that a complaint under this Section must be made as far as possible during the pendency of the proceedings and if it is made after such pendency, it should be made within a reasonable time. See the decision of the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of General Motors (India) Limited, 1954, Vol. I, L.L.J., p. 876. It is true that this was a case under Section 23 of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950; but that section is similar to Section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act and the principles laid down in the above case would also be applicable here.

5. Now, in the present case, the award in Reference No. 6 of 1952 was published in the Gazette of India, dated the 10th October 1953. Hence under Section 20(3) read with section 17A of the Act, the proceedings in that case must be deemed to have concluded from the 10th November 1953. The present complaint was filed on 18th March 1954. The complainant was dismissed on 14th May 1953. In other words, he has filed the present complaint more than four months after the conclusion of the above proceedings and more than ten months after his dismissal. On the face of it, there has been unreasonable delay in filing the present complaint.

6. Shri S. B. Roy, who appeared for the complainant, stated that the complainant had approached the labour Union, who thereupon sent an application to the Conciliation Officer in June 1953 and that is why the present complaint was not filed earlier. He admitted before me that no action was taken either by the complainant or the Union after writing to the Conciliation Officer in June 1953. Even a reminder was not sent to the Conciliation Officer. When Section 33A of the Act gives a special right to an individual workman to make a complaint to the Tribunal, he should exercise that right in a very reasonable time. In the present case, even if he approached the Union and the Union approached the Conciliation Officer in June 1953, that may excuse the delay upto June 1953 or at best for about a month thereafter. If the Conciliation Officer took no action in the matter, the complainant should have filed the present complaint at least in July. I am also not quite satisfied about the allegation that the Conciliation Officer took no action in the matter. He must have passed orders in the matter. The complainant, probably because the orders were against him, has not mentioned in the complaint even the fact that the Conciliation Officer had been moved in the matter. In any case, I think that the complaint has been filed after an unreasonable delay.

7. In the result, the complaint must be dismissed.

I pass my award accordingly.

The 30th July, 1954.

Shri L. Singh, Welfare Officer, c/o Superintendent of Collieries, Giridih, District Hazaribagh—For the opposite party.

AWARD

This is a complaint under Section 33A of Industrial Disputes Act.

2. The complainant alleged that he was dismissed by the opposite party during the pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952 without the permission of this Tribunal.

3. The opposite parties urged that there was no industrial dispute between the opposite parties and their workmen. They further urged that on the 15th March 1951 the Manager of the coke ovens reported theft of certain articles. A preliminary enquiry was held when the complainant gave a statement that he had seen the commission of theft and admitted that he did not report the matter to the authorities. A charge sheet was issued against him, to which he gave a reply. An enquiry was held and the opposite party No. 2 found the complainant guilty. A notice was issued to him to show cause why he should not be discharged from service. No reply was received and ultimately an order of dismissal was passed.

4. The complainant was working as a chowkidar at the coke plant of the State Railway collieries at Giridih. It appears that certain articles were stolen from the upper storey of the Acid Plant on the night between the 14th March 1951 and the 15th March 1951. An enquiry was held in the matter and it was found that there was no sufficient evidence to hold any one person guilty of theft. It was further found that the complainant was on duty on the night of the theft and actually caught one man with stolen materials, but allowed him to go. It was further found that he did not immediately bring the matter to the notice of his superior officers. He was therefore charge-sheeted and ultimately dismissed.

5. The order of dismissal was passed on the 15th December 1952. At that time, Reference No. 6 of 1952 was pending before this Tribunal. The State Railway collieries and their workmen were parties to that reference. It has however been alleged that there was in fact no industrial dispute between the State Railway collieries and their workmen because State Railway collieries were giving paid holidays to their workmen on 15th August and 26th of January. It may be noted that Reference No. 6 of 1952 was a general reference between all collieries and their workmen relating to two points. The first was about giving of paid holidays to the workmen on the 15th August 1950, 26th January 1951, 15th August 1951, and 26th January 1952. The second point that was referred to the Tribunal for adjudication was whether the workmen should receive full pay and allowances for the holidays on the Independence Day and the Republic Day in future. Even if a particular colliery was, at the time of the order of reference, giving holidays with full pay to the workmen on the Independence Day and Republic Day, it could not be said that they would necessarily continue giving holidays with pay on these festival days in future. That is why it was referred to as a specific issue in making the above reference.

6. In this connection I may also refer to Section 10(5) of the Industrial Disputes Act which lays down:

"Section 10(5).—Where a dispute concerning any establishment or establishments has been or is to be referred to a Tribunal under this Section and the appropriate Government is of opinion, whether on an application made to it in this behalf or otherwise, that the dispute is of such a nature that any other establishment, group or class of establishments of a similar nature is likely to be interested or affected by, such dispute, the appropriate Government may, at the time of making the reference or at any time thereafter but before the submission of the award, include in that reference such establishment, group or class of establishments whether or not at the time of such inclusion any dispute exists or is apprehended in that establishment, group or class of establishments."

This would mean that even if there was no existing dispute between a particular colliery and their workmen regarding giving of paid holidays on the Independence Day and Republic Day, the Government could still include such collieries in this reference. The fact that almost all collieries situated in the whole of India were included in the above order of reference would go to show that the Government contemplated that even if in a particular colliery or collieries, there was no existing dispute, these collieries should be made parties under Section 10(5) of the Act. On the whole, I think that the State Railway collieries were properly made parties to the above reference and as they were parties thereto, Section 33 was applicable to them and they committed a breach thereof by dismissing the complainant during the pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952.

7. On merits, however, I am satisfied that the complainant's dismissal was justified. As I said above, there is no dispute that a theft of some materials took place on the night between the 14th March 1951 and 15th March 1951. A report was made about it by the Manager of the coke oven to the Colliery Superintendent of Giridih on the 15th March 1951. On the very next day (i.e. on the 16th March 1951), the statement of the complainant was recorded. In that statement, he stated, "I saw three persons on the railway line. They were dressed in black clothes. On suspicion, I asked them as to where they were going and they said that they were going to mark the attendance at the office. When I went about 50 to 60 feet, I heard noise in the northern ditch. I threw a stone in the ditch and asked as to who they were. Immediately after this, I saw four or five persons running to the East. Then I cried out loudly and one Muslim chowkidar named Mohd. Hussain came to me from the ditch and asked me to pardon him for his present action and he further wanted to give me Rs. 2 which I refused. In the meanwhile I saw one watchman, wearing a red turban on his head, running from the Tar house towards the acid Plant and he entered the Acid Plant from the Eastern side. It was about 8-30 P.M. at that time. Mohd. Hussain caught hold of my legs and would not relieve me. He told me that he would die in case his services were dispensed with and he further told that he had some children also. However, I got rid of him. I asked him to keep the articles at their proper place and he promised to do. It was moonlight. I saw four pieces of pipe lying in the ditch. I did not go in the ditch to see them. Soon after, Mohd. Hussain went into the ditch and I went to my house, being relieved from my duty at 10 P.M."

8. It appears that after this an enquiry was held by the Manager of the coke oven, the Welfare Officer and the Inspector of Watch and Ward Department. They recorded several statements including that of the complainant, and ultimately submitted their report on the 6th June 1951. Their findings were that there was no direct proof to show as to when, how, and by whom the theft was committed; though they suspected Mohd. Hussain and one Abdul Meah. The report then mentioned that the action of the complainant in letting off Mohd. Hussain when he saw him with the stolen material and not reporting the matter to his superiors could not be justified. It further mentioned that the complainant had no business to excuse Mohd. Hussain and had he produced him before his superiors, Government property would not have been lost. The report recommended that he should be suitably dealt with.

9 Thereupon on this, on the 23rd/25th July 1951 a charge sheet was served on the complainant in which it was stated that from his own statement it appeared that he had seen Mohd. Hussain with the stolen material and it was not understood as to why he (the complainant) let off the culprit instead of producing him with the stolen property immediately before his superior officers. The charge sheet further mentioned that it was also not convincing as to why the matter was not immediately brought to the notice of his superiors, and that he had no business to excuse the culprit Mohd. Hussain and if he had produced the culprit Mohd. Hussain with the stolen materials before the superior officers, the loss of Government property would have been avoided and also the person or persons implicated in the theft would have been punished adequately. The charge sheet in the end alleged that this wilful action on the part of the complainant had caused financial loss to the administration and he was called upon to show cause why he should not be removed from service. Along with the charge sheet, a copy of the findings of the enquiry committee was sent to the complainant for his information.

10. The complainant gave a reply to the charge sheet on the 10th August 1951. In this reply, he stated that at 8-30 P.M. on the 14th March 1951, he had seen 3 or 4 persons passing and when asked they had told him that they were going to attend to their duties. He further stated that a few minutes after this, he saw several persons in a ditch. On sighting them, he took them to be thieves and threw a stone whereupon all of them came out and began to run hither and thither and concealed themselves in the vicinity. In the meanwhile, Mohd. Hussain came there and asked for forgiveness. The complainant further stated that at first he could not understand as to what the matter was; but on close scrutiny he found some pipes lying in the ditch and asked Mohd. Hussain as to what the matter was. Mohd. Hussain did not disclose anything clearly. The complainant, however, suspected foul play; but as there were several persons, he did not venture to produce Mohd. Hussain and stolen materials which were lying, before his superior officers.

11. The Chief Mining Engineer, Railway Board, ultimately came to the conclusion that the complainant should be dismissed and directed the Superintendent of Collieries to do so after fully observing all formalities according to rules. A notice was issued to the complainant to show cause why he should not be dismissed. He did not reply to it and he was thereafter dismissed.

12. Neither party has led any oral evidence before me. The different statements of the complainant made by him at different stages clearly go to show that he was guilty of the charges levelled against him. In the course of the arguments, Mr. Mahendra Nath Bharati, who appeared for him, stated that the complainant's statement taken on the 16th March 1951 appeared to be suspicious. The complainant has not at any stage stated anything against this statement of his. His statement was recorded by the enquiry committee on the 24th July 1951 and in that statement he stated that the previous statement given by him was read over to him and he admitted it to be correct, and stated further that he had nothing more to add to it. Later on, when a charge sheet was served on him, he gave a reply to it and even in that reply, he has not made any allegation regarding his first statement. He has also not made any allegation in his complaint before this Tribunal, nor has he gone in the witness box to give any explanation on the point. On the whole, I think that all the three statements made by him were made by him voluntarily of his free will.

13. These statements clearly show that he had seen the commission of theft. He saw some people in the ditch and still he did not raise a cry. He has said that one Mohd. Hussain came out of the ditch and asked forgiveness and even offered him a bribe and said that if the complainant made a report, Mohd. Hussain's services would be dispensed with, causing hardship to him and his family. Thereupon the complainant asked him to place the articles at their proper places and Mohd. Hussain promised to do so. In his statement, dated the 10th August 1951, the complainant has admitted that he found pipes lying in the ditch and asked Mohd. Hussain about it and though Mohd. Hussain did not disclose anything clearly, the complainant suspected foul play. This clearly shows that the complainant did know that a theft had been committed and that Mohd. Hussain was a party to it. As a watchman, it was the clear duty of the complainant to have made a report about it immediately to his superiors. It was also his duty to have produced Mohd. Hussain with the stolen property before his superior officers. He has stated in his reply, dated the 10th August 1951 that he did not do so because there were several persons there. He has however admitted that these persons on coming out of the ditch had run away hither and thither and had concealed themselves. Merely because he had seen some people running away like this, it could not be said that they must be nearby and that would not be a valid excuse for him for not taking Mohd. Hussain immediately to his superiors. I was also told that there was a telephone nearby and the complainant could have used it for the purpose of giving information to his superior officers. In my opinion, the reason for the complainant not having taken Mohd. Hussain immediately to his superiors with the stolen property was not the fact that there were some persons nearby, but the real reason must be that the complainant thought it fit to forgive Mohd. Hussain, on Mohd. Hussain assuring him that he would put back the stolen articles at their proper places. This was a very grave offence for a watchman. He could not take it upon himself to pardon a thief or to let him go. As a watchman, it was his clear duty to have taken Mohd. Hussain with the stolen property to his superior officers, irrespective of the consequences to Mohd. Hussain. He should have taken prompt action for recovering pipes lying in the ditch. There can thus be no doubt that the complainant committed a grave breach of duty, and the opposite party was therefore justified in dismissing him.

14. I therefore hold that the complainant is not entitled to any relief. His complaint fails and is dismissed.

I pass my award accordingly.

The 2nd August, 1954.

AWARD

This is a complaint under Section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

2. The complainant alleged that during the pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952, he was dismissed by the opposite party (on the 4th September 1953) without the permission of this Tribunal and thereby the opposite party committed a breach of Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. The complainant also alleged that action was taken against him because he was taking an active part in trade union activities.

3. The opposite party denied that it took action against the complainant because of his trade union activities. It urged that the complainant was guilty of misconduct and that is why he was dismissed.

4. At the hearing before me, a preliminary objection was raised by the opposite party that the present complainant must be dismissed because it was filed after an unreasonable delay. In my opinion, this objection must be upheld.

5. The complainant has filed the present complaint under Section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act, alleging that the opposite party had committed a breach of Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act by dismissing him during the pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952. Section 33 of the Act inter alia prohibits an employer from discharging any workman concerned in any dispute which may be pending before a Tribunal without the express permission in writing from that Tribunal. Section 33A lays down that if an employer commits a breach of Section 33 of the Act, the aggrieved employee may make a complaint in writing to the Tribunal. This section does not provide in express terms the time during which the complaint under that section should be made; but it does not give a right to an aggrieved workman to make a complaint after an indefinite period. It is implicit in the section that the complaint must be made within a reasonable time of the act complained of. The true position would be that a complaint under this section must be made as far as possible during the pendency of the proceedings and if it is made after such pendency, it should be made within a reasonable time. See the decision of the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of General Motors (India) Limited, 1954, Vol. I, L.L.J., p. 676. It is true that this was a case under Section 23 of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950; but that section is similar to Section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act and the principle laid down in the above case would also be applicable to the present case.

6. The award in Reference No. 6 of 1952 was published in the Gazette of India on the 10th October 1953, and hence under Section 20(3) read with Section 17A of the Industrial Disputes Act, the proceedings in that case must be deemed to have concluded from the 10th November 1953.

7. Now, in the present case, the complainant was dismissed from the 4th September 1953. He filed the present complaint on the 7th April 1954. The pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952 was over as from the 10th November 1953. In other words, the present complaint has been filed about five months after the pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952 was over and more than seven months after the complainant's dismissal. On the face of it, therefore, the complaint has been filed after an unreasonable delay and deserves to be dismissed on this ground.

8. On merits also, the complaint must be dismissed. The complainant has admittedly been served with a series of charge sheets by the opposite party. The complainant has admitted them in his complaint. The opposite party has also produced relevant papers showing that the complainant had committed several acts of misconduct. The final act of misconduct for which he was dismissed was mentioned in charge sheet No. 9247, dated the 26th August 1953, which was replied to by the complainant on the 27th August 1953. In this charge sheet, it was alleged that the complainant was making false propaganda that the company had sanctioned Rs. 5,000 on surplus coal and that the Manager, in collaboration with a selected few workmen, was trying to distribute the above amount only among Mining Sardars and Munshis and further that if the workmen followed the complainant to Sanatoria, he would get them the money. The complaint in his reply denied having made the propaganda as alleged by him.

9. The manager referred the matter to the Pit Committee of the colliery. The complainant was informed about this. A notice was issued to the complainant by the Committee and he was informed that grave and serious allegations were levelled against him in the charge sheet and he was therefore requested to appear at the meeting of the Pit Committee and to state his case. He does not appear to have done so. The Committee considered the relevant papers and evidence and came to the conclusion that the complainant was guilty of a grave offence in making false propaganda.

10. The complainant has not gone in the witness box. The documents produced in the case show that the management had evidence before it from which it could come to the conclusion that the complainant had been guilty of making false propaganda affecting the prestige of the management and inciting disaffection among the workmen. Even the Pit Committee of the colliery, which is elected by the workmen, endorsed the findings of the management. It is true that the complainant in his complaint has mentioned that the Pit Committee was a pocket Committee of the opposite party and was not properly constituted. The Personnel Officer of the colliery, who has been examined as his witness by the complainant, has stated that the Pit Committee was properly constituted, and that the Committee consisted of 20 members, 17 of whom were elected by the workmen working in the colliery. He has further stated that the management had no undue influence over the Committee or over the meeting of the Committee held on the 1st September 1953. He has also said that eight representatives of the workmen were present at the above meeting and that three of these were members of the Executive Committee of the Labour Union, which labour union was responsible for sponsoring two strikes at the colliery. In other words, it could not be said that the Labour Union was a pocket union of the management nor could it be said that the Pit Committee was its pocket committee. That Committee, as I said above, was also satisfied that the complainant was guilty of misconduct. I might repeat that the management had evidence before it from which it was possible for it to come to this conclusion. The misconduct alleged against the complainant was of a serious nature. In the circumstances, the management was justified in dismissing the complainant.

11. In the result, the complaint fails, both on merits and also on the ground that it has been filed after an unreasonable delay. It is therefore dismissed.

I pass my award accordingly.

AWARD

This is a complaint under Section 33A of Industrial Disputes Act.

2. The complainant alleged that he had been retrenched by the opposite party on the 14th July 1952 without the express permission of this Tribunal and was again taken back on duty from the 19th December 1952. He therefore prayed for damages for the monetary loss incurred by him during the period of his unemployment from the 14th July 1952 to 19th December 1952.

3. The opposite party urged that the complainant was working as a Line Mistry till the 13th July 1952. He was retrenched along with 126 other workmen from the 14th July 1952 due to cessation of operations in the South Main Adit Mine. This general retrenchment was agreed upon by the West Bokaro Workers' Union, according to the terms of an agreement arrived at on the 29th April 1952. It was further urged that the retrenchment was approved by the Conciliation Officer, Dhanbad, after his having obtained a report from the Senior Inspector of Mines in this respect. The opposite party was therefore justified in effecting retrenchment. The complainant approached the management on or about the 19th December 1952 for a fresh job of any nature and as the management had at that time a vacancy of Tindal Mazdoor, he was appointed to that post. It was therefore urged that the complainant was not entitled to compensation.

4. It is an admitted fact that the complainant was working as a Line Mistry in the South Main Adit Mine of the West Bokaro Colliery. It is also an admitted fact that he and 126 other workmen were retrenched from the 14th July 1952. It is lastly an admitted fact that he has been taken up as a Tindal Mazdoor from the 19th December 1952. He has filed the present complaint claiming compensation for the period of enforced idleness from the 14th July 1952 to 19th December 1952. He has urged that the opposite party had committed a breach of Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act by effecting the retrenchment without the permission of this Tribunal and he therefore filed the present complaint under section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

5. Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act prohibits an employer inter alia from discharging any workman concerned in any dispute which may be pending before a Tribunal without the express permission in writing from that Tribunal. Section 33A lays down that if an employer commits a breach of Section 33, the aggrieved employee may make a complaint in writing to the Tribunal. This section does not provide in express terms the time during which the complaint under that section should be made; but it does not give a right to an aggrieved workman to make a complaint after an indefinite period. It is implicit in the section that the complaint must be made within a reasonable time of the act complained of. The true position would be that a complaint under this section must be made as far as possible during the pendency of the proceedings and if it is made after such pendency, it should be made within a reasonable time. See the decision of the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of General Motors (India) Limited, 1954, Vol. I, L.L.J., p. 676. It is true that this was a case under Section 23 of the Industrial Disputes (Appellate Tribunal) Act, 1950; but that.

section is similar to Section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act and the principles laid down in the above case would also be applicable to the present case.

6. The award in Reference No. 6 of 1952 was published in the Gazette of India on the 10th October 1953; and hence under Section 20(3) read with Section 17A, of the Industrial Disputes Act, the proceedings in that case must be deemed to have concluded from the 10th November 1953.

7. Now, in the present case, the complaint has been filed on the 18th February 1954. The act complained of by the complainant was committed by the opposite party on 14th July 1952. The pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952 was over on the 10th November 1953. In other words, the present complaint has been filed more than 3 months after the pendency of the above reference was over and more than 19 months after the act complained of. The complainant has thus been guilty of unreasonable delay and his complaint is liable to be dismissed on this ground alone.

8. On facts also, I think that the complaint must fail. The complainant was one of the persons discharged by the opposite party on the 14th July 1952. It is an admitted fact that this was a case of retrenchment. It may be noted that before retrenchment was effected, there was a discussion between the management and the labour union of the colliery and an agreement was arrived at on the 29th April 1952. The union agreed that certain workmen in certain categories would have to be reduced and the management agreed that the persons would be selected for retrenchment, after considering the lengths of their services. It also appears that the management gave information about the proposed retrenchment to the Conciliation Officer, who made a reference to the Chief Inspector of Mines. Thereupon the Senior Inspector of Mines was deputed by the Chief Inspector of Mines to inquire in the matter. After inspection, he reported that two districts of South Main Adit had been closed. He further reported that the management proposed to retrench 140 persons. He, however, agreed to a total retrenchment of 126 workmen instead of 140 workmen as proposed by the Management.

9. It would thus be clear that the retrenchment was bona fide and was necessary. As a matter of fact, no allegation has been made by the complainant against the bona fides of the retrenchment. He has also not alleged that in selecting persons for retrenchment, there had been any discrimination or victimisation. There is no allegation that the principle of "last come, first go" had not been followed. In other words, so far as the complainant was concerned, his discharge on the 14th July 1952 because of retrenchment was justified.

10. It was argued on behalf of the complainant that people junior to him were appointed earlier and that he was not appointed till the 19th December 1952. In this connection, the management urged firstly that the complainant had not approached them earlier, and secondly that they did not employ any one as a Line Mistry after retrenchment. Some persons were appointed as Tindel Mazdoors and the complainant was appointed to that post in December. When making fresh appointments to a new category of work, the management would ordinarily be justified in considering the merits of each individual workman for that work, if appointment was to be made to a new category of workmen, from out of workmen who had been working in other categories. Further, there is no evidence to show that the complainant had approached the management earlier than the 19th December 1952. In the circumstances, I think that the complainant could have no grievance against his not having been appointed earlier.

11. I may also mention that there could not be a breach of Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act by the opposite party in not re-appointing the complainant at a particular time, because that would not amount to change of service conditions; because after his (valid) discharge, he ceased to be a workman. The question of subsequent appointment of another person before him would not be an industrial dispute. Of course, under Section 33A of the Act, he could make a grievance about his retrenchment. In the present case, however, the retrenchment was both bona fide and justified and the complainant would not therefore be entitled to any relief on that score.

12. In any case, the complaint fails and must be dismissed.

I pass my award accordingly.

AWARD

This is a complaint under Section 33A of Industrial Disputes Act filed by 19 persons.

2. The complainants urged that they had been serving in the West Bokaro Colliery for three to four years, but no increment of whatever kind had been given to them. They further urged that the management had recently promoted one Mustafa, a Motor Man, to the rank of consolidated paid employee, though he was one of the junior most employees at the colliery. They also alleged that loco drivers were recently brought on a monthly scale of pay instead of weekly scale of pay. By doing so, the management had changed the service conditions of the complainants without the permission of the Tribunal and hence the present complaint was filed by them.

3. The opposite party urged that one Ghulam Mohamed Mustafa was appointed as Latheman on a daily basic rate of Rs. 1-4-0, and in view of his higher technical knowledge, he was given a small increment and put on a monthly paid basis on a basic pay of Rs. 40 per month from 15th August 1953. None of the 19 complainants except Shri Nanigopal Chakravorty was in any way concerned in the said promotion, as none of them belonged to the same category. So far as the said Nanigopal Chakravorty was concerned, his daily basic pay was increased from Rs. 0-12-0 to Rs. 1-2-0 at the time of Ghulam Mustafa's appointment; but as Ghulam Mustafa was more efficient and had better skill and experience, he was given higher wages (of Rs. 1-4-0 per day). It was further alleged that none of the complainants belongs to the same category or department as loco drivers. It was lastly urged that the allegation that none of the complainants had been given an increment was not correct. It was therefore urged that the complaint should be dismissed.

4. As I stated above, the complainants' grievances are (1) that their service conditions were changed by the promotion of one Mustafa who was promoted to the monthly paid scale though he was junior and (2) that loco drivers were placed on a monthly scale (while other categories of workmen were not). Taking the second grievance first, it may be noted that none of the complainants belongs to the category or department of loco drivers. If the management think it fit to revise the grade of a particular category of workmen, it could not be said that there had been a change in the service conditions of other categories of workmen. The management were not bound to grant an increment to all categories of workmen at the same time. It may happen that the scales of pay of one particular category may have been originally fixed at a lower scale and the management, on being satisfied about it, may think it fit to revise the wages of that particular category. This could not in any way be considered as a change in service conditions of the other category of workmen. Hence the complainants can have no grievance on this ground.

5. The other grievance urged by the complainants in the complaint is that one Mustafa was promoted to a monthly grade though he was junior to most of the other employees. It may be noted that Mustafa was recruited as Latheman and was later on promoted as a Machineman. Excepting complainant No. 10, Nanigopal Chakravorty, who is a machineman, none of the other complainants belongs to the same category or department as Mustafa. In other words, Mustafa's promotion does not in any way affect them. Promotion of a workman working in one department or re-fixation of his pay on a monthly basis would not constitute a change of service of persons working in other departments.

6. So far as Nanigopal Chakravorty is concerned, he was not present on the date of hearing. Apart from this, it may be noted that he was drawing a daily basic wage of Rs. 0-12-0 which was increased to Rs. 1-2-0 at the time when Mustafa was appointed; but because of special technical knowledge, skill, experience, and ability of Mustafa, he (Mustafa) was recruited on a daily basic wage of Rs. 1-4-0. In other words, his pay was higher than that of Nanigopal Chakravorty. Mere length of service does not mean that a particular person is senior to another. The fact that Mustafa was drawing a higher salary than Chakravorty would mean that Mustafa was senior to Chakravorty; and if Mustafa was promoted to a higher post, Chakravorty could not make a grievance of it. It may be noted in this connection that no allegation of want of bona fides or victimisation or discrimination has been made by the complainants against the management. Therefore, the promotion of Mustafa to monthly rate does not amount to change in service conditions of the complainants.

7. In my opinion, the complainants have mistaken their remedy. At the hearing, out of the 19 complainants, four were not present. I heard each of the other 15 complainants about their grievances and most of them told me that their grievance was there should be some pay scale fixed for them and that they should be given periodical increments. Actually very few of them made a grievance about Mustafa's promotion or fixing of monthly rates for loco drivers. Even if the complainants' grievance about there being no fixed scale of pay or about their not being granted increments is genuine, I cannot go into it when hearing a complaint under Section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act. In the present proceedings, all that I can consider is whether the service conditions of any of the complainants have been changed to their prejudice. If that has not been done, I can grant no relief to them.

8. I may also mention that at the hearing, a petition was produced before me by the management and complainant No. 15 Mr. V. Achari. It was stated therein that it was agreed that this complainant would work as a loco mechanic on a basic salary of Rs. 50 from the date of the agreement. In other words, so far as this complainant was concerned, the management have now agreed to put him on a monthly rate of pay and he has no grievance against the management.

9. It was urged before me by the complainant No. 19 Nizamuddin that he was originally a loco driver and yet he was not put on a monthly scale of pay when a monthly scale was fixed for other loco drivers. It does appear that this complainant was originally designated as a loco driver; but he admitted before me that he never worked as a Loco Driver but was only learning that work and during that time, he was designated as Loco Driver. He was transferred from this post to his present post of Assistant Mechanic, in the Motor and Transport section, from 14th May 1951; that is, long before the order of Reference No. 6 of 1952 was made. On the date of that reference, he was working as an Assistant Mechanic and not as a loco driver. If during the pendency of the reference, loco drivers were placed on a monthly scale of pay, while assistant mechanics were not so placed, an assistant mechanic cannot file a complaint under Section 33A; because his service conditions have not been changed during the pendency of the reference. His complaint would also therefore fail.

On the whole, I feel that the complaint of all the complainants fails and it is therefore dismissed.

I pass my award accordingly.

S.R.O. 2810.—In pursuance of section 17 of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 (XIV of 1947), the Central Government hereby publishes the following award of the Industrial Tribunal, Dhanbad, in the matter of an application under section 33A of the said Act from Shri Sanu Mian, a workman of the West Bokaro Colliery.

CENTRAL GOVERNMENT INDUSTRIAL TRIBUNAL AT DHANBAD.

APPLICATION No. 61 OF 1954.

(arising out of Reference No. 6 of 1952)

In the matter of an application U/s 33A of Industrial Disputes Act, 1947,

PRESENT:

Shri L. P. Dave, B.A., LL.B.—Chairman.

PARTIES:

Shri Sanu Mian, c/o The Secretary, West Bokaro Colliery Workers' Union,

APPEARANCES:

No appearance on behalf of the complainant.

No notice issued to the Opposite party.

AWARD

This is a complaint under Section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

2. The complainant has alleged that during the pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952, he was dismissed by the opposite party, who thereby contravened the provisions of Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

3. As the complaint did not disclose the date of his dismissal, the complainant was asked to state the date of his dismissal. In reply he stated that he was on leave from 19th April 1954 to 1st May 1954, and that as he was ill, he could not join his duties in time. He reported for duty on 20th May 1954, when the opposite party refused to give him his job.

4. Under Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, an employer is prohibited inter alia from discharging or dismissing a workman, during the pendency of proceedings before a Tribunal. Section 33A lays down that if an employer contravenes the provisions of Section 33 during the pendency of proceedings before a Tribunal, an aggrieved workman may make a complaint to the Tribunal. In other words, both sections 33 and 33A are applicable only when an action is taken (or is to be taken) by an employer during the pendency of proceedings before a Tribunal.

5. In the present case, the complainant has alleged that the opposite party committed a breach of Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, by dismissing him during the pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952. The award in that case was published in the Gazette of India on 10th October 1953; and hence, under Section 20(3) read with Section 17A of the Industrial Disputes Act, the proceedings in that reference must be deemed to have concluded from 10th November 1953. In other words, they were not pending in May, 1954, when the complainant is said to have been dismissed. No other reference between the opposite party and their workmen was pending before this Tribunal in May, 1954. Hence, the opposite party cannot be said to have contravened provisions of section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act, by dismissing the complainant and no complaint Under Section 33A would be maintainable.

6. The matter was fixed for hearing the complainant as to how the complaint was maintainable when proceedings in Reference No. 6 of 1952 had concluded (and were not pending before this Tribunal) at the time of his alleged dismissal and alleged change of service conditions. He has not appeared though duly served with a notice of hearing, nor shown how the complaint is maintainable.

7. For reasons stated above, I hold that the complaint is not maintainable. It is therefore dismissed.

I pass my award accordingly.

AWARD

This is a complaint under Section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

2. The complainant alleged that he had been dismissed illegally and wrongfully during the pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952 without the permission of this Tribunal. He therefore prayed for proper orders.

3. The opposite party urged that one Motilal was appointed as a temporary Motor Mechanic at Giridih colliery by an order dated 6th December 1947. He was involved in a criminal case and was convicted and was not allowed to join after his release. In the meantime, the appointment of a substitute provisionally upto 31st July 1949 was sanctioned, and the applicant was appointed as a substitute in that post. This post was periodically sanctioned by the Chief Mining Engineer from time to time and the final sanction to retain the services of the substitute Motor Mechanic was accorded upto 31st August 1952 or till the expiry of the industrial dispute pending before the Appellate Tribunal whichever was earlier. This decision was communicated to the complainant and he was informed that his services would terminate from 1st September 1952. According to the conditions of service, the complainant's services were automatically terminated from that day. He was paid up all dues and no person was employed as a substitute in that post. It was therefore urged that the complaint should be dismissed.

4. The complainant filed a statement Exhibit 11 giving greater details about his case. Therein he urged that because he had brought certain irregularities to the notice of the higher authorities, he had incurred the displeasure of the Store Keeper and the Manager, and he was falsely implicated in two criminal cases but was acquitted. After this, the manager refused to reinstate him and the complainant had to move the higher authorities for his reinstatement. He was reinstated on 1st July 1952 but was served with a notice on 17th August 1952 terminating his services from 1st September 1952. There are permanent posts of Motor Mechanics in other sister collieries of the management, though they have less trucks than in the present colliery.

5. The opposite party gave a reply Exhibit 12 denying the allegations made in statement Exhibit 11, and contending that the complainant was only a substitute in a temporary post and under the conditions of service applicable to him, he was not entitled to one month's notice.

6. Several facts in this case are not in dispute. The manager of the Kargali colliery appointed one Motilal as a temporary Motor Mechanic from 1st December 1947 in the place of one Kadar Ali who had been released for Pakistan. In the order of appointment, it was stated that this appointment was purely temporary and was liable to be terminated whenever any personnel opted for rest of India was finally sent for replacement. It appears that Motilal was involved in a criminal case and was convicted. Pending final decision about him, the manager of the colliery recommended that the present complainant be appointed as a substitute in his (Motilal's) place. He also recommended that the substitute may be sanctioned upto 31st July 1949 or to the date Motilal's case was decided, whichever was earlier. Sanction was accordingly given and the complainant was appointed as a Motor Mechanic in the vacancy of Motilal. It appears that the complainant was involved in the criminal cases in about January 1952. He was prosecuted for the same and pending prosecution, he was suspended. It further appears that he was acquitted on 12th June 1952. On his approaching appropriate authorities, he was allowed to resume his duties from 1st July 1952. On 17th August 1952, he was served with a notice terminating his services from 1st September 1952. As Reference No. 6 of 1952 was then pending, the complainant has filed the present complaint under Section 33A of Industrial Disputes Act alleging that the opposite parties had contravened the provisions of Section 33 by discharging him during the pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952 without obtaining the express permission of this Tribunal.

7. The opposite party in their written statement urged that there was no pending controversy in which they or their workmen were directly or substantially interested. Reference No. 6 of 1952 related to giving of paid holidays with full pay on the Independence and Republic Days. It was argued that there was in fact no industrial dispute between the State Railway collieries and their workmen because State Railway collieries were giving paid holidays to their workmen on 15th August and 26th January. It may be noted that Reference No. 6 of 1952 was a general reference between all collieries and their workmen relating to two points. The first point was about giving of paid holidays to the workmen on 15th August 1950, 26th January 1951, 15th August 1951, and 26th January 1952. The second point was whether the workmen should receive full pay and allowances for the holidays on the Independence Day and the Republic Day in future. Even if a particular colliery was, at the time of the order of reference, giving holidays with full pay to the workmen on the Independence Day and Republic Day, it could not be said that they would necessarily continue giving holidays with pay on these festival days in future. That is why it was referred to as a specific issue in making the above reference. Hence, even if at the time of the Reference, the State Railway collieries were giving holidays with pay on these days, it could not be said that no dispute could be apprehended in respect of future days.

8. In this connection, I may also refer to Section 10(5) of the Industrial Disputes Act which lays down:

"Section 10(5). Where a dispute concerning any establishment or establishments has been or is to be, referred to a Tribunal under this Section and the appropriate Government is of opinion, whether on an application made to it in this behalf or otherwise, that the dispute is of such a nature that any other establishment, group or class of establishment of a similar nature is likely to be interested in, or affected by, such dispute, the appropriate Government may, at the time of making the reference or at any time thereafter but before the submission of the award, include in that reference such establishment, or group or class of establishments, whether or not at the time of such inclusion any dispute exists or is apprehended in that establishment, group or class of establishments."

This would mean that even if there was no existing dispute between a particular colliery and their workmen regarding giving of paid holidays on the Independence Day and Republic Day, the Government could still include such collieries in this reference. The fact that almost all collieries situated in the whole of India were included in the above order of reference would go to show that the Government contemplated that even if in a particular colliery or collieries, there was no existing dispute, these collieries should be made parties under Section 10(5) of the Act. On the whole, I think that the State Railway collieries were properly made parties to the above reference and as they were parties thereto, Section 33 was applicable to them and they committed a breach thereof by discharging the complainant during the pendency of Reference No. 6 of 1952.

9. Before going to the merits, I may mention that the complainant had alleged that his discharge was due to the fact that he had incurred the displeasure of the manager. He had not made any such allegation in the original complaint. It is true that in the statement Exhibit 11, he has stated that he had incurred the displeasure of the manager; but even then he did not mention any reason why the manager was displeased with him. It is true that he suggested that he had brought to the notice of the authorities certain irregularities and suggested that this was the reason for the manager's displeasure. He also alleged that he was falsely implicated in two cases. In his deposition, he has suggested that he believed that the criminal complaints were filed against him at the instance of the manager. The alleged representation made by the complainant related to certain procedure, which was prevailing at the colliery. That representation was made by him in July 1950. It is difficult to believe that the manager got these complaints filed against him because of his having made the representation 1½ years ago.

10. I may also mention that in the statement Exhibit 11 and in his examination in chief, the complainant alleged that after his acquittal from the criminal court, he approached the manager for being reinstated; but the manager refused to do so and it was only after he moved the higher authorities that he was appointed to his post. Later on, he had to withdraw these allegations. He admitted that he gave a written application to the manager after his acquittal, whereupon the manager asked him to obtain a copy of the judgment and said that after a copy was given to him, he would reinstate him. The Manager also said that he would forward the copies to the Superintendent of Collieries and obtain his orders for complainant's reinstatement. The complainant had also to admit that the manager never refused to allow him to resume his duties. It appears that the complainant gave an application to the Superintendent of Collieries also and action was taken thereon and he was allowed to resume his duties; but as admitted by the complainant himself, the manager had never refused to allow him to resume his duties. The allegations made by him in the statement Exhibit 11 and in his examination in chief were thus not true. This shows that his allegations against the manager that the manager was prejudiced against him and got the complaints filed also cannot be accepted. I therefore do not believe his allegations that he was discharged because he had incurred the displeasure of the manager.

11. Even then, I think that his summary discharge without a charge sheet and with hardly a fortnight's notice was not proper. As I said above, he was appointed as a substitute in place of one Motilal. The opposite party contended that the appointment of the complainant was temporary and even the post was temporary. There is however nothing to show that the post to which the complainant was appointed was a temporary post. If we look at the order under which Motilal was appointed as a Motor Mechanic, we find that it was mentioned therein that Motilal was appointed as a temporary Motor Mechanic in the place of one Kadar Ali who was released for Pakistan. The order also mentioned that that the appointment (that is, the appointment of Motilal) was purely temporary and was liable to be terminated whenever any person opted for rest of India was finally sent for replacement. This would mean that the post was a permanent one; but only the appointment of Motilal thereto was temporary, and not that the post was temporary. It may be noted that Motilal's appointment was made from 1st December 1947 soon after the partition of India; that is why the above order mentioned that the appointment was purely temporary and was liable to be terminated whenever any person opted for rest of India was finally sent for replacement. I might repeat that this only means that Motilal's appointment was temporary but it did not mean that the post was temporary.

12. As Motilal got involved in a criminal case, it was felt necessary that there should be a substitute appointed in his place. Accordingly the manager made a recommendation that the complainant may be appointed as a substitute from 24th March 1949 till 31st July 1949 or till the date Motilal's case was decided, whichever was earlier. It appears that sanction was given to this, and the complainant was appointed and worked as a Motor Mechanic as a substitute in the place of Motilal from 24th March 1949, and continued in that post till about January 1952, when he was involved in two criminal cases and appears to have been suspended. He was however reinstated on acquittal and paid his wages for the period of his suspension. In other words, he continued in that post till his discharge on 1st September 1952.

13. The opposite party urged that the post of the complainant was periodically sanctioned by the Chief Mining Engineer from time to time and the final sanction to retain him was accorded upto 31st August 1952 and that is why he was discharged on 1st September 1952. None of these orders has been produced before me, excepting an order dated 25th June 1952 by which the Chief Mining Engineer sanctioned the retention of the service of the substitute Motor Mechanic for a further period upto 31st August 1952 or till the expiry of the industrial dispute (Appellate Tribunal), whichever was earlier, subject to the condition that the complainant was to be discharged immediately the industrial dispute was finally disposed of. This does not mean that the post was temporarily sanctioned from time to time. It would only mean that the continuance of a substitute was sanctioned from time to time. As I mentioned above, when a substitute was originally asked for it was asked for upto 31st August 1949; and probably the continuance of substitute or the continuance of the complainant as a substitute in that post was sanctioned from time to time. This would not mean that the post was temporary nor would it mean that the continuance of the post was sanctioned temporarily from time to time. There is a distinction between a "post" and a "substitute" for the post and a particular person being appointed to that particular post. The post appears to have been permanent; but the continuance of a substitute and continuance of the complainant as a substitute appears to have been sanctioned temporarily from time to time.

14. In this connection, I may also refer to two letters written by the Chief Mining Engineer to the complainant on 9th March 1953 and 7th June 1953 respectively. In the first letter, it has been mentioned that the post of Motor Mechanic at Kargali colliery was proposed to be filled up by the senior most surplus mechanical fitter. In the second letter also, it has been mentioned that it had been decided to fill up the Motor Mechanic's post at Kargali colliery by the senior surplus mechanical fitter of the colliery. Both these letters clearly show that the post of Motor Mechanic is still in existence i.e. it was not a temporary post sanctioned for a particular period. It could not therefore be said that the complainant's services had to be terminated, because a post, which was sanctioned temporarily, was not continued later on.

15. It however does appear that the continuance of the complainant as a substitute was sanctioned from time to time. This would not mean that the complainant could be discharged summarily. No charge sheet was served on him. There is no allegation that he had committed any misconduct. No enquiry of any sort was held against him. He had continued to work in that particular post for a period of over three years. As I said above, it is not the case that the post was abolished. In the circumstances, it was unfair labour practice to discharge the complainant without a charge sheet and without a proper notice. I therefore hold that the complainant's discharge was improper, and he deserves to be reinstated.

16. Regarding past wages, the complainant was discharged from 1st September 1952; still he did not file the present complaint till 11th August 1953. It is true that on the day on which he filed the present complaint, Reference No. 6 of 1952 was still pending. If it had not been pending, the complaint might have failed on the ground of unreasonable delay. But looking to the fact that the complainant approached the Tribunal after a long time, I think that he would not be entitled to any wages till the date of his filing the present complaint.

17. In the result, I direct that the complainant should be reinstated in the post of Motor Mechanic on the same terms as before within 15 days of this award becoming enforceable on his approaching the opposite party for the same. The complainant should also be paid his wages, dearness allowance, and all other benefits as if he was in service from 11th August 1953 till the date of his reinstatement. The period from 1st September 1952 to 10th August 1953 both days inclusive will be treated as on leave without pay and would not constitute a break in service. The arrears of wages as directed above should be paid to him within one month of the award becoming enforceable.

I pass my award accordingly.

AWARD

This is a complaint under Section 33A of Industrial Disputes Act.

2. The complainant alleged that he had been dismissed by the opposite party on 16th March 1954 without a notice or a charge sheet during the pendency of Reference No. 11 of 1953.

3. The opposite party urged that the complainant was on probation for six months but his work was found unsatisfactory within two months and he was therefore discharged.

4. At the hearing, the complainant was not present though he was twice informed about the dates of hearing. The papers produced by the opposite party show that the complainant's allegation that no charge sheet had been served on him is not correct. A charge sheet had been served on him and he was given an opportunity to explain the allegations made against him but he did not do so. Under the standing orders of the opposite party, the complainant must be deemed to have been on probation for at least three months. He was discharged before this period. He was also found guilty of misconduct. He is therefore not entitled to any relief.

The complaint fails and is dismissed.

I pass my award accordingly.

AWARD

This is a complaint under Section 33A of Industrial Disputes Act.

2. The complainants alleged that they had been dismissed by the opposite party on 23rd February 1954 without notice or charge sheet during the pendency of Reference No. 11 of 1953.

3. The opposite party urged that as they had not sufficient work, they wanted to transfer the complainants to another mine; but they refused to go there. They were therefore offered an alternate job, but they did not like it and they requested the opposite party to retrench them on giving the full retrenchment relief. They were accordingly paid full retrenchment relief and retrenched and not dismissed.

4. At the hearing, the complainants were not present though they were twice informed of the dates of hearing. There is no evidence in support of their allegation that they were dismissed by the opposite party. The opposite party has produced receipts passed by the complainants when they were paid retrenchment relief on 1st March 1954, according to the length of their service. This shows that the complainants were retrenched and not dismissed. The complainants were also paid full retrenchment relief. They are not entitled to any further relief.

5. The complaint fails and is dismissed.

I pass my award accordingly.

AWARD

This is a complaint under Section 33A of Industrial Disputes Act.

2. The complainant alleged that during the pendency of Reference No. 1 of 1953 between the opposite party and their workmen, the opposite party illegally terminated the complainant's services from 18th November 1953 without the express permission of the Tribunal and thereby committed a breach of Section 33 of the Act.

3. The opposite party denied that they had contravened the provisions of Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act. It was contended that the opposite party did not terminate the services of the complainant but that the complainant left the colliery of his own accord from 18th November 1953 because he apprehended trouble due to an alleged enticement by him of a female labourer, and absented from work without permission and without any satisfactory cause for more than 10 days; this constituted a misconduct. The complainant wrote a letter to the management on 25th November 1953, but the allegations made therein were found to be false. The opposite party did not take any action against the complainant and it had no objection if he would have reported and joined his duties. As he voluntarily absented himself from 18th November 1953 and did not offer a satisfactory explanation for his absence, he is not entitled to any compensation.

4. The complainant was working as a trolleyman in the South Bulliaree Kendwadh colliery belonging to the opposite party. He alleged that from 18th November 1953 his Sirdar, one Chotu Bhuia, stopped him from work. On the other hand, the management urged that the complainant voluntarily absented himself from work from 18th November 1953. According to the management, there was an allegation against the complainant that he had enticed away a female labourer and this had led to some unrest amongst the labourers and the complainant apprehended trouble and so, he left the colliery. It was also said that the opposite party had no objection to allow the complainant to work if he had reported himself for duty. In the course of arguments, Mr. Majumdar on behalf of the opposite party also urged that they had made this offer while the matter was pending before the Conciliation Officer.

5. When the matter came for hearing before me, I was informed by both parties that the complainant had joined and had been allowed to join his duties in the colliery from 7th July 1954. The question of reinstatement therefore now does not survive. The only question that has got to be considered is as to whether the complainant should be given any wages for the period of his idleness from 18th November 1953 to the date of his re-employment on 7th July 1954.

6. As I said above, according to the complainant's case, he was not allowed to work from 18th November 1953 by his Sirdar and the reason for this was that the Sirdar was taking a leading part in a particular labour union and wanted the complainant to join that union. On the other hand, the management alleged that the complainant had voluntarily left the work because there had been some excitement amongst a section of the workmen for the alleged conduct of the complainant in respect of a particular female labourer, and he therefore apprehended trouble. Neither party had led any oral evidence.

7. According to the complainant, he wrote a letter to the manager on 19th November 1953 informing him that his Sirdar Chotu Bhuia had stopped his work from the preceding day and requested for prompt action by the manager. Mr. Majumdar on behalf of the management said that they had not received any such letter of 19th November 1953. But even according to the management, they did receive a letter from the complainant dated 25th November 1953 in which he had stated that the Sirdar Chotu Bhuia had stopped him from work two weeks ago and requested the manager to make enquiries in the matter and also to get his wages for the two weeks paid by the Sirdar. This letter was forwarded by the Overman to the manager on 27th November 1953 stating that he had no knowledge about the complainant who was absent from 18th November 1953. In other words, whether the complainant wrote a letter to the manager on 19th or not, it is certain that he did approach the manager on or before 27th, that is, within 10 days from the first day of his alleged absence. He should normally have been taken immediately back to work on that very day. This however does not appear to have been done. The letter bears an endorsement from the Manager that the complainant was required to explain why he was absent from duty and why he did not report to the Assistant Manager. This order does not bear any date nor is there anything to show that the order was communicated to the complainant or any attempt was made to obtain any explanation from him.

8. On 4th December 1953 the complainant wrote a letter to the Colliery Superintendent of the opposite party mentioning that the Sirdar had stopped his work from 18th November 1953; that he had approached the manager but he did not pay any attention to it and requested that he should be allowed to continue his work and he should be transferred under some other sirdar in any section of the collieries. This letter appears to have been forwarded by the Colliery Superintendent to the Manager. Thereupon a letter was addressed to the manager by the Sirdar Chotu Bhuia stating that the complainant had abducted a girl and kept her at some place for some days and when this was found out, he fled away.

The Sirdar also stated that he had not stopped the complainant from working and that the complainant was (even then) not staying at the colliery and he did not know his whereabouts. The Overman also wrote a letter on 7th December 1953 saying that the complainant was absent without information from 18th November 1953 and that he did not make a report till 27th November 1953 when he approached him with an application which was forwarded by him to the Manager and that he had not seen the complainant thereafter. On 14th December 1953 the manager addressed a letter to the Welfare Officer of the colliery returning the application of the complainant addressed to the colliery Superintendent and stating that because of some domestic quarrel of a serious nature, the complainant had left the colliery and absented himself from duty from 18th November 1953 without any information and nobody knew whether he was living in the colliery. He also said that nobody stopped him from his duty as could be seen from the comments made by the Sirdar and the Overman.

9. After this, the complainant approached the Conciliation Officer who forwarded the complaint to the management. In the course of the reply to that complaint, the management stated that they had no objection if the Conciliation Officer directed the complainant to turn up before the manager and ask for pardon for the offence committed by him, and then he may apply for work. I am mentioning this at this stage to show that the alleged offer by the management to reinstate the complainant before Conciliation Officer was not unconditional. Actually it did not contain any promise to reinstate the complainant. It only mentioned that the complainant should first tender an apology and then apply for work, meaning that the management would thereafter consider his application; that is, the management were not prepared even to consider his application till he tendered an apology. In my opinion, thereafter, it could not be said that because of this offer made by the management, the complainant would not be entitled to any wages, after the date of this offer on the ground that he refused to accept that offer.

10. At this stage, I may also mention that in the letter to the Conciliation Officer, the management said that the complainant absented from work for more than 15 days and then applied to the manager and the manager called for his explanation for absenting himself. As pointed out above, the complainant had approached the manager within less than 10 days from the alleged absence. Further, though the manager did make an endorsement on the complaint asking for the complainant's explanation, there is nothing to show that that order was communicated to the complainant.

11. On the admitted facts, the complainant, even if he voluntarily absented himself, approached the management within 10 days and asked for work; but work was not immediately given to him, and his application was forwarded from one officer to another and the result not communicated to him. If the management wanted to take action against him for his alleged absence without leave, they should have served a charge sheet on him and after holding an enquiry passed necessary orders. This was not done.

12. I am also not satisfied that the complainant remained absent voluntarily from work. There appears to be some force in his allegation that he was stopped from work by his Sirdar. He made a complaint against the Sirdar almost immediately after his stoppage from work. No independent enquiry has been made about the allegations made by the complainant. The Sirdar is bound to deny the allegations. The management ought to have made enquiries from other independent sources before accepting the Sirdar's word for it. The Sirdar has gone to the length of saying that the complainant had left the colliery and his whereabouts were not known. Actually the complainant addressed one letter to the manager on 25th November 1953 and another on 4th December 1953 to the Colliery Superintendent. He has produced his ration card showing that he had drawn his rations for the week ending 21st November 1953 and this must evidently have been done evidently between 23rd November 1953 and 28th November 1953. The allegation therefore that the complainant left the colliery cannot be believed. As I mentioned above, no attempt has been made to inform him of the order passed by the manager calling for his explanation. No letter was sent to him by registered post nor is it alleged that some peon had been sent to the complainant's residence. I might repeat that the Sirdar was an interested person and his allegation should not have been accepted without making some enquiries in the matter. There is no evidence in support of the various allegations made by the Sirdar against the complainant. No reply was sent to any of the letters of the complainant, nor was he informed that he had not been prevented by any one from doing his work or that he had remained absent without permission. Even when the complainant approached the Conciliation Officer, the opposite party did not unconditionally offer him his job but said that the offer would be considered if an application was made by the complainant after giving an apology. In my opinion, the complainant's allegation that he was stopped from work appears to be true. He would therefore be entitled to get his wages for the period of his forced idleness.

13. It is true that the complainant approached this Tribunal only on 15th February 1954. The award in Reference No. 1 of 1953 was published in the Gazette of India on 16th January 1954 and hence under Section 20(3) read with Section 17A of the Act, the proceedings in that case must be deemed to have concluded only on 15th February 1954. That would mean that the present complaint was not filed after the proceedings have been concluded. Further the complainant was stopped from work from 18th November 1953. He immediately approached the manager and then the Superintendent of Collieries; and when he did not get any relief from them, he approached the Conciliation Officer. The Conciliation Officer wrote a letter to the management on 15th January 1954. The management replied to it on 21st January 1954. The present complaint was filed on 15th February 1954. It could not therefore be said that there was any unreasonable delay.

14. In the result, the complainant should be paid his wages from 18th November 1953 till the date of re-employment on 7th July 1954 together with dearness allowance, and other advantages as if he was on duty during all this period. The amount should be paid to him within 15 days from this award becoming enforceable. The complainant has already been reinstated and hence no orders are passed for his reinstatement.

I pass my award accordingly.

AWARD

This is a complaint under Section 33A of Industrial Disputes Act.

2. The complainant alleged that he had been discharged by the opposite party on 16th January 1954 during the pendency of Reference No. 11 of 1953 and claimed reinstatement with full wages for the period of his idleness.

3. The opposite party urged that the complainant was late in attending the mine on 16th January 1954 and when questioned about it, he misbehaved and adopted a threatening attitude. He also instigated other late-comers not to work and went away with them, thereby causing stoppage of the work of the shift. A charge sheet was tendered to him, but he refused to accept it. He was thereafter dismissed.

4. At the hearing before me, the parties produced a memorandum of compromise entered into between them. Under the compromise, the complainant is to be paid 15 days wages in consideration of his past services. He is now working as a contractor of the company and does not therefore claim reinstatement. In my opinion, the compromise is fair and reasonable.

I therefore pass an award in terms of the compromise, a copy of which is attached herewith.

AWARD

This is a complaint under Section 33A of the Industrial Disputes Act.

2. The complainants alleged that they were discharged on 19th January, 1954 by the opposite party during the pendency of Reference No. 11 of 1953 and the opposite party had thereby committed a breach of Section 33 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

3. The opposite party urged that the complainants were involved in stealing mica and were duly charge sheeted and found guilty after a thorough enquiry.

4. At the hearing, the parties produced a compromise before me. In the compromise, it was stated that the complainants were now working in another mine and do not claim reinstatement. The mine of the opposite party, in which they were working, has been closed and the complainants were therefore paid one month's salary as relief. In my opinion, the compromise is fair and reasonable.

5. In the result, the complainants are now not entitled to any relief. The complaint is therefore dismissed.

I pass my award accordingly.
